Description:

Slide transparency. On the left side of the photograph stands a farm on a hillside, consisting of a home with an addition, two barns, a cement stave silo, and another building slightly to the right of the rest. A plowed field is farther down the hillside. To the right of that field, a group of five cows and horses graze. Additional plots of land appear to be separated by lines of trees. The top of the hillside and a patch of land at the right are covered in trees which have lost almost all of their fall leaves, while closer to the photographer is another clump of trees, one still decorated in orange.
